WILL THERE BE A PANIC? The Present Stringency in the Mones Market and the Decline in Stocks-Critical State of Affairs in Wall Street.

bonus, for the use of the money. Hence in the present stringency borrowers have ocen compelled to pay as high as ten to twelve per cent. interest. The cause of this sudden crais in Wall street may be briefly told and will be found an interesting narrative.

Just about the middle of September in each year money always becomes active. It was a little late this season owing to the backward-ness of the cotton crops in the South and to the retention of the western crops by the farmers, who were seeking higher prices. Money was abundant in the metropolis as a consequence, and was loaning freely at four, five and six per cent. on what are known as call loans. These are loans made upon colliteral, such as stocks and bonds, and liable to be called in at the option of the lender. The case in money induced the utmost specialtion in the stock market, and everything in the shape of stocks was bought with aridity. Prices ran up so rapidly that an advance of 20 per cent. took place in some of the railing stocks, particularly the Western ow within a few weeks. The situation afforded a proportionity for a grand "shour" operation, by which stocks could be sold at your pressure forced below the contract figure Sach, it least, was the view taken of it by a prominent "bear" firm, who induced others to being them, and a large "pool" was thus formed for the purpose of breaking to the money is plenty. Conversely, they go up when money is plenty. Conversely, they for the purpose of breaking the stock of the criffied cheech they cashed at still other banks, and inally they locked the last amounts in their acte. Any one familiar with business about a million of collateral the speculations could capte in the banks will see at once that with a million of collateral the speculations could was the continuity of the proper and the prope previously clied, and the remaining volume of currency expanded so as to meet the requirements of business for a few days. The attempt was a flasco, and after a short time they took their greenbacks out of the safe and puttlem in bank again. A second attempt was made a few weeks afterwards, but it was hardly more successful. The shock market in each instance vibrated a little, but the scheme being seen through prices remained firm and the speculators refured vanquished.

The third and the most successful attempt was insugurated last Monday and Tuceday, when the same 'proof' and by the same 'proof' and by the same 'proof' and by the same 'declined and the first which the same 'the same 'proof' and by the same 'declined and the successful attempt was insugurated last Monday and Tuceday, when the same 'special to be a desperate one on their part. The stock market reduced to respond as they wished to the fightness in money, and the series was applied by the withdrawal on Tunarday of three millions more of greenbacks. Still the market was obstinate. The Western railway shares broke under the pressure, it is true, because they were the most largely instand by the previous manda for speculation. The objective point was Erie, however, and that slock continued firm. A further withdrawal of money was managed, and Erie, after fighting hard all day Friday, fell from 17 to 44, and great excilement. The rest is soon told. The withdrawal of money was managed, and broke. Erie fell, rose again half way, and then relapsed to shout28. The vactors are not content as yet.
